

KOSID and Sierra Club have started a campaign calling out the support of activists to tell ContourGlobal to support clean energy development in Kosovo instead of building a new coal plant.

Studies have shown that there is significant potential for energy efficiency improvements and cost-competitive clean energy development in Kosovo. In spite of this, the New York-based company ContourGlobal is on the brink of signing a contract with the Government of Kosovo to build a new coal-fired power plant.

ContourGlobal needs to know there is strong opposition to building new coal plants around the world, especially when cost-competitive clean energy options exist.

Take action now: tell ContourGlobal to support clean energy development in Kosovo instead of building a new coal plant!
